Mockery in Spanish Golden Age Literature

Catalogue

Mockery in Spanish Golden Age Literature takes a ground-breaking look at seriousness and comicality by investigating burlesque mockery in a variety of 'high' and 'low' style genres produced by major writers like Miguel de Cervantes, Luis de G'ongora, Francisco de Quevedo and Salas Barbadillo during the Spanish Baroque. Examination of the foundations of burlesque mockery in sonnets, romances, theatrical interludes and Don Quixote opens ways of solving problems concerning burlesque laughter. This systematic investigation of burlesque mockery in the Spanish Golden Age addresses certain theoretical and historical issues of evaluation by presenting practical expositions of representative examples of the burlesque mode thereby exposing both burlesque mockery and the controversy that surrounds it.

Appleton's Cyclopædia of American Biography

Offers information on birdwatching, backpacking, and hiking in each region of Spain, and describes the country's geography and wildlife

A New History of Spanish American Fiction: Social concern, universalism, and the new novel

Spanish Sea

A Translation Manual for the Caribbean (English-Spanish)

These volumes present a multitude of Spanish-American literature's greatest works. From the earliest extant writings through the literature of the 1980s, the author draws on the latest scholarship and she presents each literary genre fully in its own section, making it easy for the reader to follow the development of poetry, the drama, the novel, other prose fiction, and nonfiction prose. A full index easily enables the reader to find all references to any individual author or book. Another noteworthy feature of this two volume set is the comprehensive attention the author accords nonfiction prose, including, for example, essays, philosophy, literary criticism, politics, and historiography.
